ADRIANNA VINEYARD

CHARDONNAY

Adrianna Vineyard
White Stones Chardonnay

White Stones Chardonnay comes from a selected group of 27 rows in the Adrianna vineyard. The name refers to the ground beneath the vines which is covered with gravel - oval white stones - and in ancient times was the site of a dried river bed.

Las uvas para la elaboración del Chardonnay White Stones provienen de un selecto grupo de 27 hileras plantadas en el Viñedo Adrianna. El término "White stones" (piedras blancas) hace referencia a la composición de suelo de dichas hileras, con piedras ovaladas, pertenecientes al lecho seco de un antiguo río.

ADRIANNA VINEYARD

MALBEC

Adrianna Vineyard
Mundus Bacillus Terrae Malbec

The soils in this 1.4 hectare parcel are filled with scattered limestone and marine deposits that covered the region millions of years ago. The limestone layers are well-drained and particularly rich in rhizobacteria, the microorganisms that help vine roots withstand stress and absorb nutrients. Thus, the name "mundus bacillus terrae" or "elegant microbes of the earth.

Los suelos de esta parcela, de 1.4 hectáreas, están compuestos por carbonato de calcio y fósiles marinos que cubrieran la región millones de años atrás. Las capas calcáreas poseen un buen drenaje y son ricas en rizobacterias, los microorganismos que ayudan a la raíz de la vid a soportar el stress y absorber los nutrientes. De allí, el término "mundus bacillus terrae" o "elegantes microbios de la tierra".

Adrianna Vineyard
Fortuna Terrae Malbec

Fortuna Terrae means luck of the land in Latin, and indeed, our vines from this parcel of the Adrianna Vineyard are lucky. The loamy soils are home to many varieties of native grasses wich prevent erosion and attract benefic insects, singing birds and mountain foxes. Because of the freshness imparted by the deep soils and high altitude, the wines of Fortuna Terrae have optimal acidity and delicate flower aromas.

Fortuna Terrae -"Suerte de la Tierra" en latín - hace referencia a las "afortunadas" vides de esta parcela del Viñedo Adrianna. De hecho, los suelos arcillosos profundos de este sector albergan gran cantidad de pastos nativos que previenen la erosión, atrayendo a insectos benéficos, pájaros cantores y zorros montañosos. Debido al frescor que imparten los suelos profundos y la altura, los vinos Fortuna Terrae presentan una óptima acidez y delicados aromas a flores.

Adrianna Vineyard
River Malbec

The River sector of Adrianna is planted in the path of a dried river filled with white stones covered with limestone. These stones make for optimal drainage and extreme temperatures because the stones absorb the heat and moderate the nights but also function like ice cubes after a very cold night. Stony soil Malbecs tend to be extremely aromatic, rich and luxurious.

Este vino lleva el nombre de una pequeña parcela compuesta por piedras cubiertas por carbonato de calcio, que pertenecieran al lecho de un antiguo río. La abundancia de piedras facilita un drenaje óptimo y la adaptación a temperaturas extremas. Las piedras retienen el calor del día, irradiándolo durante la noche, moderando el frío nocturno. A su vez, en noches de frío extremo, funcionan moderando el calor diurno. Los Malbec provenientes de suelos calcáreos son extraordinariamente aromáticos, concentrados y opulentos.
